

Catavolt

Take your current software system mobile – quickly and securely.

Mobilize your business with secure access to real-time data from desktops, tablets and smartphones. With anytime access to critical business information, you can:

- Increase sales and customer satisfaction
- Make more nimble business decisions
- Create new cost efficiencies

Now you can securely connect to your colleagues, partners, suppliers and customers by giving them instant access to your data – without having to upgrade your existing system.

Whether you're working with SQL Server®, Oracle®, IBM i, Infor™, SAP and more, Catavolt Extender is built to work with it.

For more information or a demonstration:
Contact Paul Halvorson at (651) 247-7084 or Paul.Halvorson@triminmf.com

Inform the field.

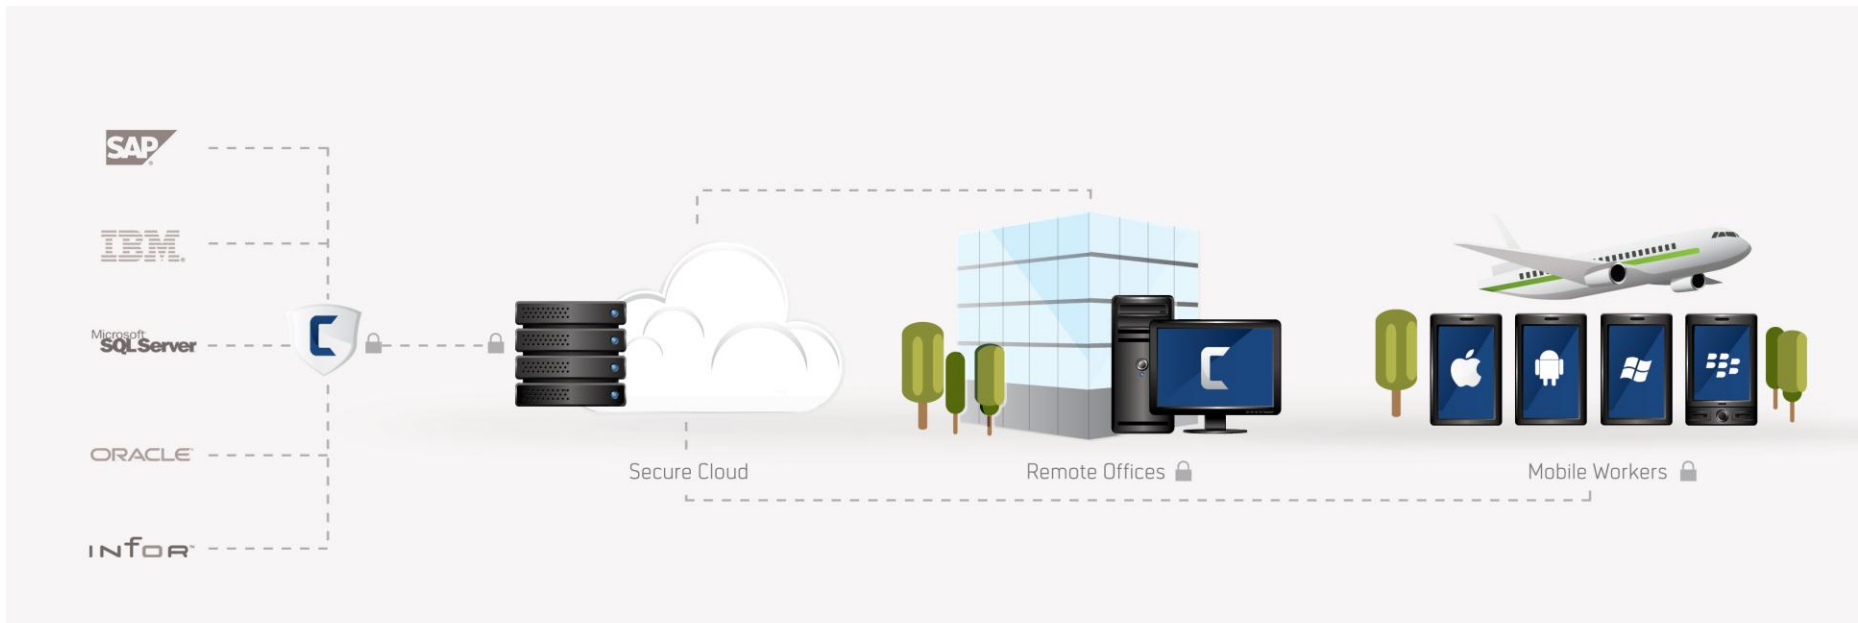

Empower your employees with a mobile app to view accounts, check inventories, update job statuses and much more – all without Citrix® or a VPN.

Connect with customers.

Show your customers how innovative you are by giving them the power to instantly check the status of orders, place new orders and track shipments – all from their mobile devices.

Monitor it all.

Let your users track important worldwide company information from different systems such as sales, financial, production and information for real-time data on sales, cash transactions, scrap, order holds and much more. All the information is right in front of them in one easy-to-navigate interface.

Better business with Catavolt Extender

Point and share.

Now there's no need to implement an entirely new system to stay innovative. Catavolt Extender is a hosted cloud service that connects to your data without requiring any changes to your existing system. In a matter of days, you can take your data mobile with no device programming. Just point and share.

Create your own success.

The solutions you produce are 100% customized to meet your specific business needs, and everything you create in Extender is fully backed by Catavolt support. You simply point Extender to the data that you want to share and then choose how you want to show it and who gets to see it. Once you do, users can slide, pinch and zoom through the data on fully functional native applications.

Think big. Start small.

Get started with Catavolt Extender for a surprisingly low cost of entry – and without the hassle of extending your current system licensing. Built for any size business, Catavolt Extender lets you extend your usage as your business grows.

Security is key.

Keeping your information secure is more important than ever. With Catavolt Extender, data is encrypted end-to-end and is never replicated or stored in the cloud, on the mobile device – or anywhere. Users do not have access to your internal system, and managing their privileges is simple.

Don't pick sides.

The apps you build will work on all major mobile and tablet devices, including iOS, Android™, BlackBerry® – and whatever else comes next. Your users simply download the free Catavolt app from the application store for their specific devices. Your IT department never needs to program or even touch a device, but you'll still maintain complete control over what the app shares.

Constantly connected.

Seamlessly connect your salespeople, suppliers and customers with the data they need. Give them a desktop widget so they can easily monitor important events or submit critical updates.

Powered by knowledge.

Once it's printed, a report is immediately outdated. Instead, give executives the real-time data they need with useful, fully interactive graphs that tell the story behind the numbers. They'll be able to filter and drill down through the data right from their phone or tablet.

Productive at all times.

Give salespeople and managers the ability to review customer accounts onsite, approve orders when they're out to lunch or even track schedules from the shop floor with any smartphone or tablet.

For more information or a demonstration:
Contact Paul Halvorson at (651) 247-7084 or Paul.Halvorson@triminmfg.com